

And you shall love all these words in the LORD your God, who brought you out of Egypt out of the land of slavery shall have no other gods before (a) me shall not make for yourself an idol or the image of any person or animal or anything that crawls on the ground or in the water or in the air. You shall bow down to them or worship them; you shall not. For the LORD your God is one. You shall love the LORD your God, the one and only LORD. You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength. You shall love your neighbor as yourself. You shall love the children you bear, the son of the father, to the seventh generation of those who love me. For showing love to a thousand generations of those who love me and keep my command shall not misuse the name of the LORD your God, for the LORD will not hold anyone guilty who misuses his name.

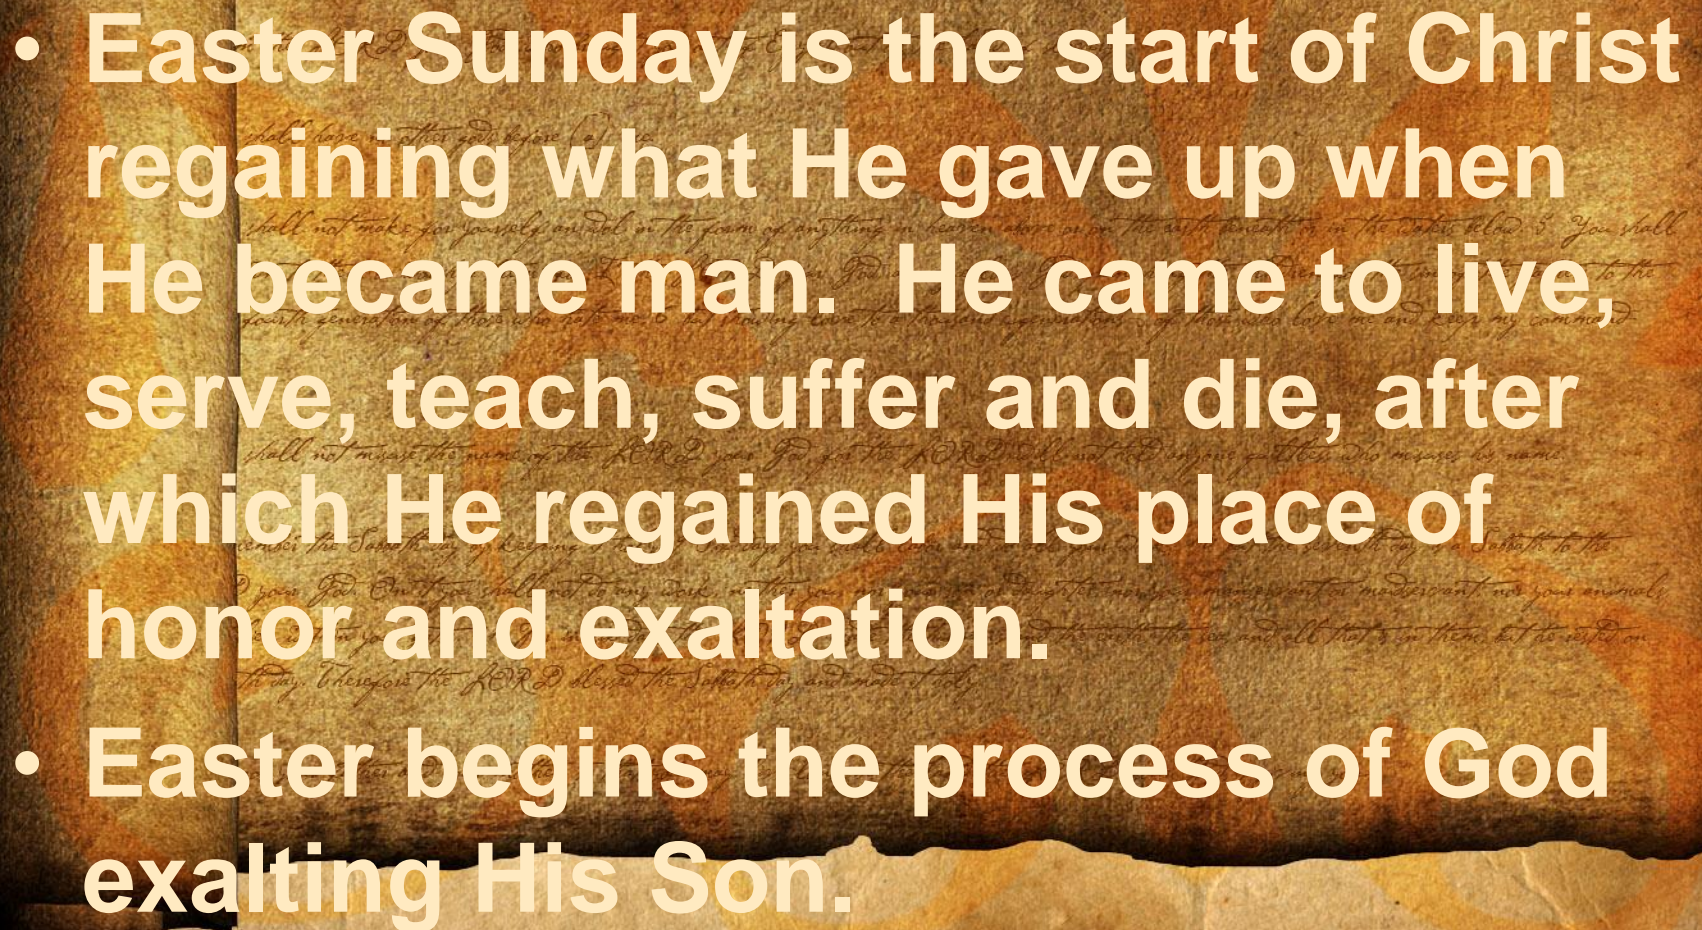

Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, the sea, and all that is in them, but he rested on the seventh day. Therefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and made it holy. Honor your father and your mother, so that you may have long life in the land. For in seven days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, the sea, and all that is in them, but he rested on the seventh day. Therefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and made it holy.

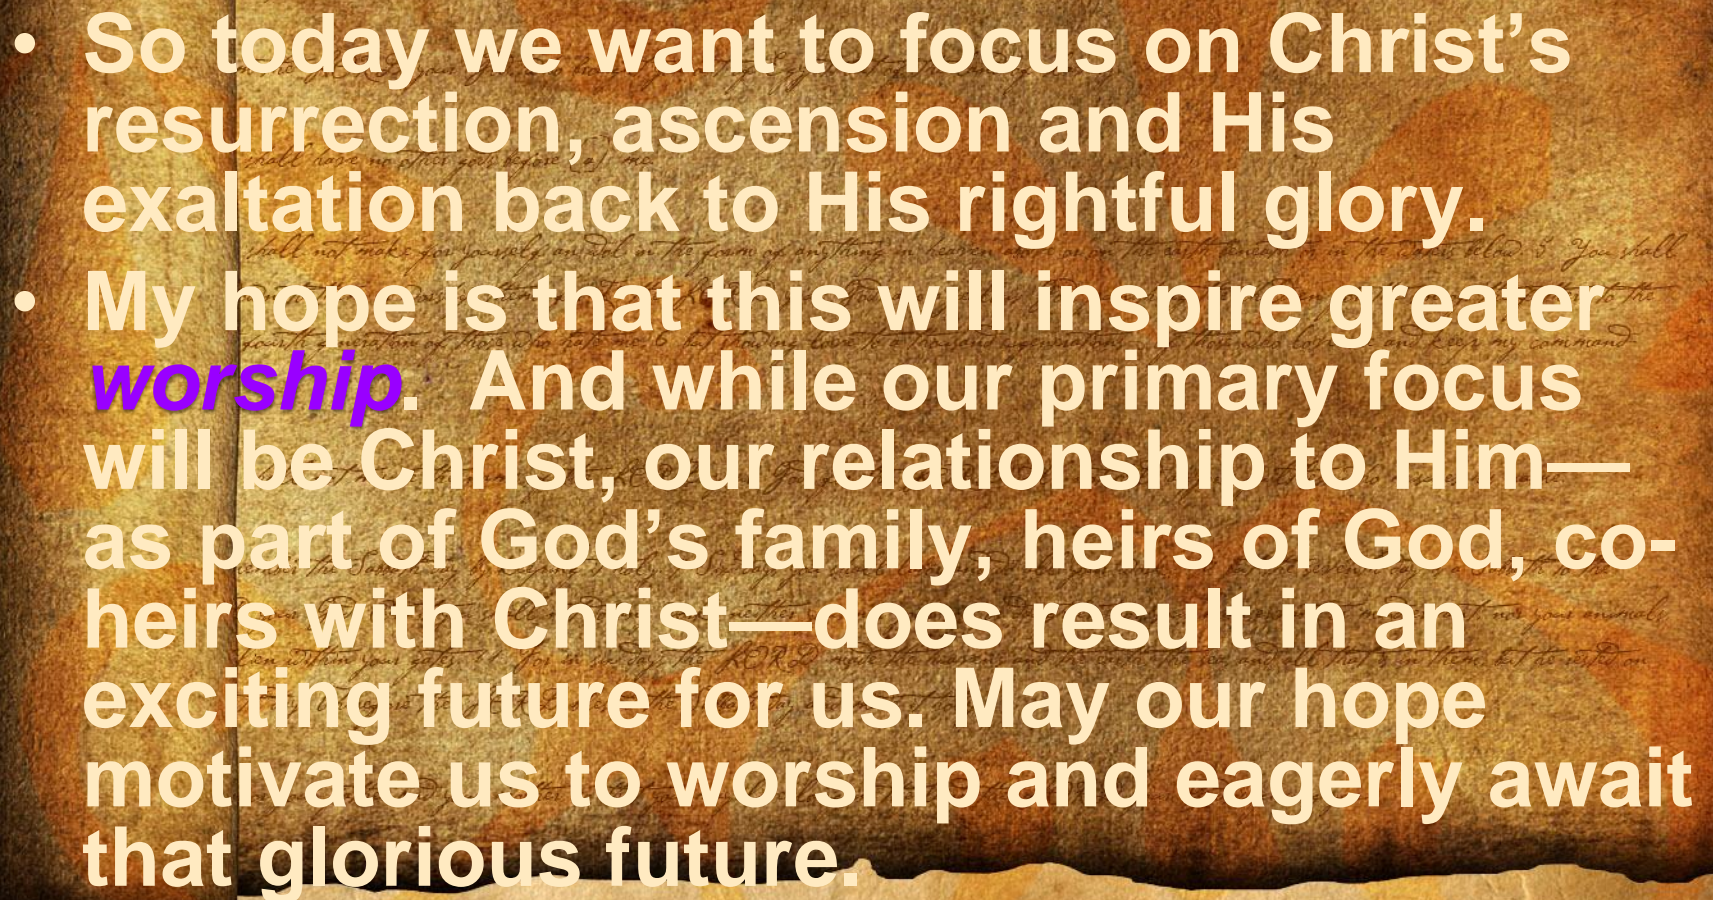

Love your father and your mother, so that you may have long life in the land. For in seven days the LORD made the heavens and the earth, the sea, and all that is in them, but he rested on the seventh day. Therefore the LORD blessed the Sabbath day and made it holy.

Easter

Resurrection, Ascension and Exaltation

-
- We often think of Easter as a celebration of the resurrection—which it is.
 - We also think of Easter as an assurance of salvation—since God accepted Christ's payment for our sin thereby securing salvation for us.
 - But Easter's story of resurrection is about Christ, as we often need to remind ourselves, it's all about Him. But it is also more than just the story of life after death.

-
- The image shows a scroll with Hebrew text written in cursive. The scroll is unrolled, showing a large section of text. Overlaid on this scroll is a large, bold, white English text. The English text consists of two bullet points. The first bullet point describes Easter Sunday as the start of Christ regaining what He gave up when He became man, listing His actions: He came to live, serve, teach, suffer, and die, after which He regained His place of honor and exaltation. The second bullet point states that Easter begins the process of God exalting His Son. The background Hebrew text is partially legible and appears to be a biblical passage, likely from the Book of Exodus, discussing the Sabbath and the name of God.
- Easter Sunday is the start of Christ regaining what He gave up when He became man. He came to live, serve, teach, suffer and die, after which He regained His place of honor and exaltation.
 - Easter begins the process of God exalting His Son.

-
- So today we want to focus on Christ's resurrection, ascension and His exaltation back to His rightful glory.
 - My hope is that this will inspire greater worship. And while our primary focus will be Christ, our relationship to Him—as part of God's family, heirs of God, co-heirs with Christ—does result in an exciting future for us. May our hope motivate us to worship and eagerly await that glorious future.

- So today we want to focus on Christ's resurrection, ascension and His exaltation back to His rightful glory.
- My hope is that this will inspire greater worship. And while our primary focus will be Christ, our relationship to Him—as part of God's family, heirs of God, co-heirs with Christ—does result in an exciting future for us. May our hope motivate us to worship and eagerly await that glorious future.